PACFILE

PACFile is a service that provides the option to file documents with the courts electronically on both new and existing cases. Payment of any associated fees is also accepted at the time a filing is submitted and may be made with Visa, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, or ATM card. Upon completion and payment of the filing, it will be transmitted to the court for processing. Registering for a secure user account is necessary and is for Pro Se litigants.

Non-incarcerated Pro Se litigants are eligible to access and view their case on the Court's Web Portal. Upon accepting the PACFile terms, future service from the Court will occur via PACFile instead of the U.S. Post Office. PACFile registration occurs on the web portal and the office must assign an access code to gain access to your specific case. You MUST APPEAR IN THE OFFICE to be assigned the access code.

This access is not intended for general use. Litigants bear ultimate responsibility for any unauthorized dissemination of documents gained by the use of the access code and shall immediately notify the Adams County Clerk of Courts in writing that they suspect the code has been compromised so that the Court can regenerate a new access code for the case. Misuse will result in electronic access being terminated.
