RECESS

DINNER BUFFET

A 40 minute recess was taken for dinner.

GUEST SPEAKER(S)

DAN MOUL

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

State Representative Dan Moul shared some interesting facts regarding the latest on the state budget.

A 29.8 billion dollar budget with no tax increases was delivered on time and the Governor vetoed the budget in its entirety, which is the first time a governor has dismissed a budget outright since the mid-1970s. The Governor wants a 1.8 billion dollar tax increase which would consist of the increase of sales tax and earned income tax.

We need to ask ourselves:

- What is the Governors agenda?
- Who is responsible for the governor being elected?
- Who wanted Wolf as governor?
- Who wants to eliminate charter schools?

If you answer these questions it will all make sense as to why the Governor vetoed the entire budget and wants the tax increase. The additional revenues will end up increasing education funding and not passing a budget will lead to the charter schools to close.

A bit of background, when a student leaves a public school and goes to a charter school the money for that student leaves the public school and goes to the charter school. So if funds are not going to the charter schools then they will not be able to keep their doors open and all the students will return to the public schools and so will the money. It has been said that the state budget does not spend enough for education however, Pennsylvania ranks sixth in the nation in the amount of money it spends per student to educate them. Teacher salaries are also among the highest in the country. "In Pennsylvania, the average teacher salary is more than $10,000 above the national average."

ACBA MEETING ▪ JANUARY 18, 2016

The state budget broken down into percentages:

- 41% - Education
- 33% - Department of Welfare
- 10% - Corrections
- 16% - to pay bills with the exception of PennDot

The state House did pass legislation which authorizes emergency state funding. This funding will support recipients of student loans and human services providers. "Today's vote means approximately $11 billion in state funding that will carry Pennsylvania through the month of October may be distributed among service groups, students and schools that desperately need it. It resolves an interruption that has forced domestic violence and rape crisis centers to either consider or go through with plans to take out loans so their doors remain open." This does not replace the state budget. The governor vetoed the emergency funding legislation.

Several attempts have been made to release funds from the budget for organizations that need it and there has been no effort made from the other side.

There was discussion regarding pension reform which pension reform does need to happen. Pensions will be what destroys Pennsylvania if something is not done to get it under control, however pension reform should not affect the individuals that are currently in the pension system.

It is time to put all agenda's aside and get a budget passed so the organizations that depend on this money do not have to close their doors.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Then next Adams County Boroughs Association meeting will be held on March 21, 2016.
