

READING TOWNSHIP, ADAMS COUNTY
50 CHURCH ROAD, EAST BERLIN, PA 17316
PHONE: 717-624-4222 FAX: 717-624-7926

Reading Township is a political subdivision of the state of Pennsylvania, located in Adams County and is governed by a three member Board of Supervisors. The Township includes approximately 72 miles of roadway and according to the 2010 census, there are approximately 5,651 residents. The Mission of Reading Township is to serve the best interests of all Reading Township Residents. We pledge to be self-motivated and continually strive to provide the most efficient, effective and fiscally responsible level of service. We recognize the dignity and worth of public service and are dedicated to the highest standards of integrity to provide:

- Friendly and Efficient Administrative Services
- Sound and Balanced Fiscal Management
- Protect the Safety and Welfare of our Residents
- Maintain and Provide Safe and Efficient Roadways
- Preserve our Agricultural Heritage and Open Spaces
- Manage Development through Responsible Planning & Zoning